STARTING POINT—Competing teams in the North American Men's Sailing Championship hosted by the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club position their Flying Scot Class boats for start of a Friday race in Bay St. Louis. The race drew teams representing eight areas of the United States began Thursday and ended late Saturday afternoon. Entrants competed for the Clifford D. Mallory Cup. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

California apparent Mallory Cup winner

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A California crew has apparently narrowly won the North American Sailing Championship Flying Scot Class competition in Bay St. Louis late Saturday afternoon winning the organization's Mallory Cup award.

A Bay St. Louis woman is a member of a projected third place crew. Scoring Official Jean Larroux of the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club stated, "Unofficially it looks like a California crew has won the overall competition by one-fourth of a point."

The official explained a 'protest' by any of the competitors might change the final decision. Larroux said, as of 6:30 p.m. Saturday, the winners appeared to be:

—Area G Team, first place, David Ullman of Newport Beach, Calif., with crew members Bill Herrschaft and Paul Murphy sailing out of Balboa

Yacht Club in the Yacht Racing Union of Southern California; —Area B Team, second place, David Dellenbaugh of Fairfield, Conn., with crew members John Wallace and Jamie Brown sailing out of Pequot Yacht Club of the Yacht Racing Association of Long Island Sound; —Area F Team, third place, Scott Young of Dallas, Tex., with crew members Doug Shelton and Cindy Stieffel (originally of Bay St. Louis) out of the Corinthian Sailing Club of the Texas Yachting Association.

"Area D, which represents our area appears to be way back and if he finishes fifth I'll be surprised," Larroux noted.

Danny Killen of New Orleans heads the Area D team.

The Connecticut team held a strong lead at the beginning of the racing event, but Larroux reported,

"California and Connecticut were tied Friday."

The race almost had to be continued Sunday due to subsiding winds and an incoming tide.

Each race had a 2.5 hour time limit, but Ullman finished about five minutes before the deadline.

Larroux said, "We had a good breeze when we started racing today, but the winds died down and the tide began coming in against the boats."

"We just made it," he added. Ullman won the Clifford D. Mallory Cup after three days of competition hosted by the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Eight teams representing various all areas of the U.S. met in Bay St. Louis for the competition.

A victory celebration Saturday night at the local yacht club culminated the event.

City employee killed

Murder charge filed in shotgun slaying

By EDGAR PEREZ
A 38-year-old Bay St. Louis woman is lodged in the Hancock County Jail under $50,000 bond in connection with the shotgun slaying Friday morning of her common law husband.

Holley Gene Wilson of Lot No. 28, Wheel Inn Trailer Park on US-90, was charged with first degree murder after she admitted shooting Charlie Cox, 35, of the same address, a meter reader for the City of Bay St. Louis Utility Department.

Officers Harris Boudreaux and Larry Ladner of the Bay St. Louis Police Department found Cox unconscious on the kitchen floor of the couple's trailer shortly after 7 a.m. Friday.

Police Chief Douglas Williams said his department received a report of the shooting from Mobile Medic at 7:06 a.m.

Williams said Wilson apparently ran to a neighboring trailer after the shooting to summon an ambulance.

Wilson told officers she and Cox had engaged in an argument over domestic problems prior to the shooting Friday morning.

She told police Cox threatened her before she shot him.

Williams reported a 12-gauge shotgun was found in the trailer.

Cox was pronounced dead on arrival at Hancock General Hospital of gunshot wounds to the upper abdomen, Williams reported.

Wilson told police she shot Cox in the bathroom of the trailer, and loaded the gun again as he staggered toward her. Cox was hit from close range, officers said.

At least two, and possibly three shots were fired inside the trailer, Williams reported.

"One shot went through the wall of the trailer," Williams noted.

"Wilson had some blood on the little finger of her right hand from a small cut—she thinks it may have happened

Fugitives abandon car in Shoreline

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Hancock law enforcement officers are on the lookout for Jimmy Sullivan and four others allegedly involved in a murder in Jefferson Parish Louisiana, according to Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson.

Hancock Investigator Alvin Ladner and Waveland Investigators Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille and Sandra Henley impounded a vehicle Saturday at 1 a.m. on Avenue B, Shoreline Park.

The car was identified as by Louisiana officers as one in which Sullivan and four other fled that state.

"Indications are the vehicle was abandoned either late Thursday or Friday by the five suspects being sought," the Hancock sheriff said.

A teletype message issued at 7 p.m. Friday listed the five as being armed and dangerous. The message stressed,

"...Please impound and process vehicle, it is part of a murder scene..." Alvin Ladner said he, Tartavouille and Henley started looking for the blue 1975 Malibu and spotted it at 8:30 p.m. Friday and kept it under surveillance until verification from the sheriff in Gretna.

"We received confirmation of identification of the vehicle a little after midnight and are now holding it for Jefferson authorities," Ladner stated.

Peterson noted that Sullivan had received a three year sentence on a rape charge and was out on parole from the state penitentiary in Louisiana.

The five wanted subjects were apparently involved in a shootout, Peterson said, adding the message indicated one of the persons may be wounded and authorities are asked to check hospitals in their areas.

Chief Douglas Williams and Officer Harris Boudreaux, all of Bay St. Louis Police Department; and entering the Cox trailer, Jim Miles of the Mississippi Crime Laboratory in Gulfport. Cox's common law wife, Holley Gene Wilson, 38, has been charged with murder in connection with the slaying. (Staff photo by Randy Ponder)

STATE PRESENTS CASE—Assistant District Attorney Scherry LeSueur of Gulfport presents the state's case Wednesday against Hancock County School Board member Oris Ladner regarding the alleged theft of two butane space heaters from the Clermont Harbor School. Listening to the address at a preliminary hearing before District One Justice Court Judge Lee Klein are, from left, Ladner and Defense Attorney Boyce Holleman of Gulfport, and unidentified spectators in the background. The hearing cleared Ladner of the grand larceny charge. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Klein finds 'no impropriety'

School official cleared of grand larceny charge

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
Grand larceny charges against Hancock County School Board member Oris Ladner were dropped in a preliminary hearing Wednesday night. Ladner was charged earlier this month in an alleged theft of two butane space heaters from the Clermont Harbor School while some $19,000 in renovations by Bay Contractors of Diamondhead were underway.

After evidence and testimony was presented by the state and defense, District One Justice Court Judge Lee Klein determined there was insufficient evidence to refer the case to the grand jury.

"However, some new laws will have to be made to cover items removed from schools in school districts," Klein said.

The justice court judge said he felt 'no impropriety' existed since a contract between Bay Contractors and the Hancock County School District did not specify the district would retain the heaters which were being replaced by the contractor.

The court heard testimony by Gulfview Elementary School Principal William Haddock, County Sheriff's Department Investigator Delbert Seay, both of Lakeshore, and Bay Contractors official Robert (Bob) Rippitoe of Pass Christian.

Some 15 people attended the hearing which began at 6:10 p.m. in the County Courthouse courtroom in Bay St. Louis. Haddock testified that Bay Contractors began work at Clermont Harbor School July 28.

The Gulfview principal is in charge of the fifth grade classes at the Clermont school also.

The school principal said Custodian Sol Cuevas reported that Ladner obtained two heaters from the Clermont building the day the renovation work began.

Haddock said he then went to the school and spoke with Rippitoe about Ladner obtaining the heaters.

Defense Attorney Boyce Holleman of Gulfport objected to what he termed 'hearsay' testimony, but Klein overruled the motion.

The principal said, "Rippitoe said Ladner took the heaters and he (Rippitoe) said 'What was I going to say to him?'"

Haddock stated he reported the matter to Superintendent of Education Billy D. Sills the next day.

"Sills said he didn't give authority to Ladner to take the heaters," Haddock added.

Holleman then showed Haddock a copy of the contract with Bay Contractors which the principal verified.

"The contract said the heaters were to be removed," Holleman stated.

Haddock said he did not see that part of the contract and explained, "The heaters were perfectly alright and were used for a short time last year."

Holleman asked, "Are they space heaters and aren't they a hazard to school students?"

Haddock explained space heaters are used in many schools across the state. Holleman then began questioning Haddock about contract details, but Haddock said, "Sills would have told me to let these heaters go."

"Anything of value to the school would have to be put on public auction," the principal stated.

After Holleman could not extract any contract details from Haddock he asked that Sills testify since he was familiar with contract details.

Klein informed Holleman that Sills had been subpoenaed, but was not available because he was attending a conference in Jackson.

Holleman then presented Haddock with an apparent bill of sale from Rippitoe conveying title to the heaters to Ladner and asked the principal to read it.

Haddock replied, "It's your document, you read it."

After an objection motion by Assistant District Attorney Scherry LeSieur of Gulfport, Klein stated, "Since Rippitoe is not present in the courtroom to substantiate the document it will not be admitted as evidence.

"If he was here to verify this document, then it would be admitted," Klein added.

LeSieur then asked to see the document.

Holleman pointed out the document was notarized, but LeSieur noted Rippitoe's wife was the notary.

Haddock said Project Architect John Mykolyk of Pass Christian told him heaters in the Clermont school "were not the contractor's property."

Holleman replied, "Why did the architect order new heaters?"

Testimony by Seay revealed he first learned the Clermont heaters were at Ladner's home through rumors and then acted after receiving a telephone call at 9:30 p.m. Aug. 8 from a "confidential informant."

Seay said he spoke with State Highway Patrol investigators who were working on a case in connection with alleged irregularities at Gulfview the next day after receiving the telephone call.

"We hunted all day in the Clermont Harbor School area and couldn't find the heaters," the investigator reported.

Seay stated District Attorney Albert Neece advised him to obtain a search warrant from Klein for Ladner's home.

"We found one heater in Ladner's living room and one in the bedroom," Seay noted as he identified photographs of the units.

The investigator said the heaters were not hooked to any gas lines.

Holleman asked Seay, "Did you get windows out of a school?"

The investigator replied, "Yes, out of Gulfview. Those were windows brought to my house. Work crews were hauling the windows to the garbage dump."

"I got eight or 10 windows and I still have those," Seay added.

The state rested its case against Ladner.

The defense was granted a five-minute recess allowing Rippitoe travel time to the courtroom.

Rippitoe said he filled out an "acceptance form" with the school district for $19,240 work at the Clermont school. "I had 21 days to complete the labor or I would lose $50 per day," he explained.

Holleman asked, "What type of heaters were you supposed to install at the school?"

Rippitoe replied, "I can't think of the name, but the units mount on the wall and have a blower-type heater."

The contractor said he also had to repair the building's windows "to make them operable."

"Any time you bid on a contract, what you tear out is yours unless specified in the contract," Rippitoe stated in response to questions about the Clermont school contract.

Holleman asked, "What was the value of the heaters to you?"

Rippitoe replied, "To me, nothing. They were used heaters and I gave two to Oris Ladner."

Holleman inquired, "Did you put it in the form of a notarized document?"

The contractor replied, "Yes I did. LeSieur asked Rippitoe if his wife had notarized the bill of sale which was identified by the contractor."

Rippitoe replied, "I've probably given out 400 deeds and she's been the notary."

LeSieur asked, "What was the purpose for you giving Ladner the heaters?"

The contractor stated, "I wanted the heaters out of my way. If I hadn't given the heaters to him someone would have stolen them. They weren't property of the county, but property of mine."

When asked if the Clermont school was damaged by the tornado which struck the Gulfview school, he replied, "The school wasn't damaged by the storm, but it may have had windows blown out. The repairs were an emergency project because the job had to be completed before school started."

Rippitoe said the contract with the school district did not specify the heaters should remain in the school building, it being a "common practice" for contractor to dispose of material or items being replaced.

"I was glad Ladner took the heaters, otherwise I would have had to go to the dump with them," the contractor stated.

LeSieur asked, "Are these usable heaters?"

Rippitoe replied, "Yes, if you have gas line hookup in your house."

The assistant district attorney asked, "Where are the other two heaters?"

Rippitoe said, "I have no idea, I tend to think some took them."

"I had a guard service at the school and Buck Ladner was in charge," he added.

The contractor explained the school board "changed their minds at least four different times" regarding what type of heaters were to be finally installed at the Clermont school.

Regarding the notarized bill of sale, Rippitoe explained, "I made up the bill of sale way afterwards when people said Ladner stole the heaters. I had the bill of sale made up after the heaters had been found by the sheriff's department."

"I saw the two heaters on Ladner's truck, but I didn't question it because the heaters were junk to me," the contractor stated.

LeSieur asked Rippitoe, "Did you tell Haddock that Ladner took the heaters and said 'what was I going to say to him, he's a member of the board'?"

Rippitoe replied, "I said 'Oris took them'."

LeSieur inquired, "You didn't see if there was any salvage in the building?"

Rippitoe asked LeSieur, "Do you have piped gas in your home?"

The assistant district attorney shot back, "I don't have a house yet, but I'm working on it."

The contractor said he was not the low bidder on the Clermont school contract or on any contract he has had with the school district.

The assistant district attorney noted the rough form of the notarized bill of sale and had Rippitoe read the document.

"I wrote this after drinking a half fifth of Jack Daniels, what do you expect. If somebody says I stole the heaters, all I can say is they're junk to me," Rippitoe said.

Holleman stated, "The architect is the controlling body in a construction project and is it your contention that you had every right to get rid of the heaters?"

Rippitoe replied, "Yes."

After Klein called the attorneys to his desk for consultation he stated, "I see no reason to pursue this matter any further."

"I'm sure the state will pursue this in the grand jury," he added.

Hit-and-run death under investigation

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The apparent hit-and-run death early Friday morning of Raleigh Dale Smith, 23, of Picayune Rt. 3, Box 218, in the Leetown Community, Hancock County, remained under investigation by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

"The sheriff's office received a call at 4:01 a.m. Friday from Jim Moniot of Biloxi, distributor of The Sun newspaper, who reported seeing a man in the road who had been hit and badly injured," said Sheriff's Investigator Alvin Ladner.

"Smith's body was located in the middle of the north bound lane of Hwy. 43 about one mile west of Hwy. 603 by Deputies A.J. Cuevas and Willie Lee," Ladner commented.

Hancock Coroner Carl Banderet was summoned and a preliminary investigation resulted in Smith being pronounced dead at the scene, according to Ladner.

"At 3:25 a.m. a passing motorist reported that she had seen a man standing in the road on Hwy. 43 trying to flag cars and we are not sure if it was the same person but are checking it out," Ladner allowed.

The case is still being treated as a hit-and-run, according to police.

Hancock Sheriff Ronald Peterson is urging any person having information on Smith's whereabouts Friday morning to call his office.

"We just want information, everything will be kept confidential," Peterson said.

The State Crime Laboratory in addition to Waveland Investigators Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille and Sandra Henley are helping with the case and the search for the vehicle which struck Smith, according to Ladner.

Nitrogen fertilizer costs increase

With the high cost of nitrogen fertilizers and the need for higher quality pastures and hay, more farmers are realizing the need for more forage legumes.

The main pasture legumes for which seed are available include white, crimson, arrowleaf, subterranean and ball clovers, says Dr. Lamar Kimbrough, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service agronomist (forages). Alfalfa is used most often for hay.

Wild winter peas and vetch are used for hay and cover crops. Annual lespedezas are used for hay and grazing, sericea lespedeza for hay and soil stabilization. Soybeans are also legumes and are sometimes used for hay.

"Each of these legumes is able to take nitrogen from the air and change it to a form usable by the plant," he adds. "Some do a more efficient job than others."

Alfalfa and white clover fix well in excess of 100 pounds of nitrogen per acre in one season. This can mean as much as $20 to $30 per acre saved in nitrogen fertilizer.

Animals graze selectively where clovers are growing in pastures. They prefer the palatability and flavor of these legumes.

Penalty-prone Pirates humiliate Tigers, 21-7

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Pass Christian Pirates, in spite of almost 200 yards in penalties called against them, defeated the Bay Senior High Tigers Friday night, 21-7.

Most of the penalties levied on Pass Christian were 15-yard personal foul infractions. Hungary for a win, the Pirates chalked up their first 1980 football season victory in Tiger stadium, leaving Bay High with a 1-3 record.

Pass Christian scored their first TD in the middle of the first quarter when Tailback Oscar Bailey outran several Tiger defenders and scampered some 75 yards down Bay High's sideline.

Split End Jeff Ulrich then kicked the extra point for the Pirates.

Bay High began a running game across the field, but when Tiger Quarterback Steve Seymour began a passing attack Pirate Earl Conway intercepted the throw.

Just before the end of the first period Bay High bungled an unusual triple reverse play which cost the Tigers two yards.

Bay High turned the ball back to Pass High offense deep in Tiger territory.

The Pirates took advantage of the good field position and sent Bailey in for another Pass touchdown with 11 minutes and six seconds left in the first half.

But the Pirates failed to make the PAT when a wobbly punt fell under the crossarm.

A few minutes before halftime the Tigers tightened up after defensive lineman Curtis Thomas intercepted a long pass by Pass Quarterback Buck Bradley on the Bay High 25 yard line and carried the ball to the Tiger 35 yard line.

In a third and 12 situation on their own 47 yard line, Seymour passed to Wingback Stephen Hargett who escaped several Pirate defenders to put Bay High on the scoreboard with about four minutes left in the second quarter.

Tiger Fullback Van Fayard then blasted the pigskin through the uprights upping the score to 7-13.

Halftime entertainment featured dazzling marching musical presentations on field by the bands of both schools. The kickoff play in the beginning of the second half told the tale for the outcome of the game as Tiger Runningback Alex Herrington fumbled the return back into hands of the eagerly awaiting Pirates.

But Pass Christian couldn't gain ground against the Tiger defense.

In a faked deep-punt formation the Tigers brought the pigskin in for an apparent TD, but a clipping penalty nullified the points.

Then after fighting their way through a continuing series of penalties Pass Christian eventually hammered their way to the Bay High five yard line.

With 30 seconds left in the third period in a first and goal situation, Bailey handed off to Tailback Bryan Charlot. The Pirate tailback ran in on the left side upping the score to 19-7.

Pass Christian Flanker Danny Brown successfully ran for the conversion points setting the final game score of 21-7.

Charlot carried in another Pass Christian touchdown with two minutes and 35 seconds left in the game but a Pirate penalty zapped the points.

Immediately after the game Bay High Head Coach James (Snuffy) Smith stated, "We made a lot of mistakes tonight which held us back."

"Our overall effort was fantastic and we had a great desire to win. We played well together as a team tonight," he explained.

"Pass Christian broke a up a couple of long passes, defensively, but other than that we held our ground against a big team," Smith said.

The Bay High coach cited as an example, "How would you like to be a 140-pound center up against a 215-pound nose guard."

"We played with a lot of effort tonight and if we continue to pull together we'll win some games this year," Smith stated.

Pirate Head Coach Bob Lumpkin stated after the game, "We generally played sloppy."

"We didn't execute properly in the first half and I felt we kept Bay High in the game," Lumpkin explained.

"I really feel we were our own worst enemy," he added. "We won the game, but we stayed disorganized all night long. I feel we have a lot of work to do because our schedule doesn't get easier," the Pass Christian coach said.

"I'm satisfied with our hustle and hitting, but our execution is bad. We made several mental mistakes," Lumpkin stated.

"Even though we won we have a lot of work to do. I don't feel we've reached our potential," he added.

Game statistics show Bay High with six first downs to Pass Christian's five.

The Pirates earned 243 rushing yards to the Tiger's -34.

Bay High gained 189 passing yards, but Pass High lost eight yards.

The Tigers passed 25 times, completed nine and had six intercepted.

Pass High passed 11 times, completed one and had four intercepted.

OFFICIAL INSTRUCTIONS—The head official gives instructions to the captains of Hancock North Central and Vancleave Friday night before their contest. Vancleave downs Hawks

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The explosive running of Vancleave's Wingback Mark Warren coupled with a stubborn defensive effort by his team mates blanked the Hawks of Hancock North Central Friday, 29-0.

Warren scored on runs of 3, 57 and 5 yards in leading the Bulldogs to victory over a Hawk team that kept trying to cross the goal line until the final seconds of the contest.

Hawk Head Coach Irvin Favre said as the game ended, "Vancleave has an outstanding ball club. The team is probably the best Vancleave squad that has ever played the Hawks."

Favre added, "We went into the game knowing they had a super team. I am proud that our team never gave up, they played a good game. We threw everything we had against them and were unable to score."

The third quarter was controlled all the way by the Hawks with Vancleave gaining only three yards.

The HNC team under the direction of Quarterback Bobby Devaughn took over play on their own 25 after Vancleave kicked-off to start the second quarter.

The Hawks engineered four first downs in a drive to the Bulldog 21. The drive stopped when a Hawk pass bounced through the hands of several players and ended up in the hands of Vancleave's Doc Reddix for an interception.

The Hawk offense reached inside the Bulldog 20 yard line several times, but were unable to score as Vancleave's defense would shut them down.

The Hawks moved the ball on their first offensive series to the Bulldog 22 only to be stopped by a pass interception by Michael Alfred.

Cedric Goff of the Hawks cut down Vancleave's first drive by stealing a pass deep in returning it out to the 42.

Vancleave's first score did not come until 5:34 in the second stanza when Warren went in from three yards out and the PAT gave the visitors a 7-0 lead.

The Bulldogs pulled a fast second TD on the Hawks with a lateral from the quarterback to a back who lobbed a pass for a 33 yard score with 1:06 left in the first half. The PAT made by Rex Banks put the tally at 14-0.

Fourth quarter action saw explosive runner Warren take a pitchout from Quarterback Mike Seymour to the outside and fancy step for his 57 yard score with Hawk tacklers bouncing off him. Vancleave added a two point conversion giving them a 22-0 edge with 10:42 left in the contest.

The final scoring of the game came with 5:50 left in the game when Warren rambled in from 5 yards out and the PAT gave Vancleave a 29-0 victory.

Favre commenting about Vancleave said, "They are now 4-0 and they have a good shot at the Pascagoula Conference title. Warren is terrific and Vancleave has so many other good backs."

Vancleave racked up a total yardage of 260-171 over Hancock with the Hawks having an edge on first downs 13-10.

The Hawks will travel to Bay St. Louis next week to take on arch rival St. Stanislaus who will be carrying a 3-1 record into the homecoming contest.

The Hawks are now 2-2 for the season.

"We will regroup, for we know we have another tough contest next week against St. Stanislaus. We will give them our best shot. Even though we lost tonight, everyone played a good game, we were just against a very good club," Favre added.

FINAL BULLDOG SCORE—Mark Warren rambles in for his third score Friday in leading Vancleave to a 29-0 victory over the Hancock North Central Hawks. The Hawks fought until the final whistle, but were unable to cross the Bulldog goal line. (Staff photo-Ellis Cuevas)

St. Stanislaus loses, 17-0; Slidell takes cheap shot

By Randy Ponder
SLIDELL, LA.—Looking more like a college than high school team, the Slidell Tigers handed the St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws their first loss of the season, 17-0, in a hard fought interconference game here Friday night.

Leading 10-0 and with the ball on the Rock's four, Slidell called time out with one second left on the clock. They scored their final touchdown as time expired, running up the score.

"They had the game won. Most teams would have just fell on the ball and let the clock run out," commented Rock-A-Chaw head coach Barry Jones.

"Maybe they were concerned about the state standings. Or perhaps they were frustrated because our defense shut down their offense. They were trying to make it look like they played a better game than they actually did," Jones added.

Slidell head coach Jeff Panks pointed out, "We just wanted to score. It's as simple as that. We weren't trying to run up the score or anything like that, we just felt for our own good we needed to get into the endzone."

The first half of football ended with no score. Juan Betanzos missed a 55 yard field goal attempt that would have given the Rocks a three-point halftime lead. The kick was long enough, but was wide to the right.

The stage was set for the field goal attempt when Mike Prendergast recovered a Tiger fumble, giving the Rocks excellent field position at the Slidell 42.

Earlier, in the first half, Mike Coincon killed a Tiger drive deep in Rock-A-Chaw territory when he scooped up a fumble at the 10.

had marched to the Rock's end of the field.

Steven Reed dropped the Tiger quarterback for a six yard loss, forcing them to try an unsuccessful fourth down pass.

With the ball back in their possession, the Rock-A-Chaws tried a half-back pass. However, Mike Hourin's pass was intercepted at the Tiger 35.

St. Stanislaus got the ball right back when Marc Meyer intercepted a Slidell pass. The Rocks were unable to move the football and the half ended scoreless.

Slidell grabbed a quick three point lead early in the third quarter with a 30 yard field goal following a Rock-A-Chaw turnover on their 29.

The Tigers first touchdown capped a 65 yard drive during which they seemed to be able to run at will.

On the ensuing kick, Slidell tried to surprise the Rocks again with an onside kick.

After they kicked the field goal, the Tigers got away with it. This time the Rocks were ready and recovered with good field position.

It appeared the Rocks were about to get back into the game. But on the first play another half-back pass was attempted, with the same net results as the first. This time it was Brian Logan's pass that was intercepted to seal the Rock-A-Chaw's doom.

A 43 yard pass play put Slidell in business at the St. Stanislaus four as time was apparently running out. Slidell elected to stop the clock and went on to score on the last play of the game.

"The pass should never have been allowed," complained coach Jones. "Their quarterback was at least two yards past the line of scrimmage when he threw the ball. The referees were out of position and didn't see the play."

—The St. Stanislaus defensive unit turned in another good performance in this game. They recovered three fumbles and intercepted a pass.

Offensively the Rocks were a bit sluggish. They were up against a very large and strong defensive ball club in Slidell.

"We are a ball control type team. We just couldn't maintain any drive at all," Jones said. "We did a real good job of hanging in there. The game was a lot closer than the score indicates."

On the ground, the Rocks gained 40 yards compared with 168 for the Tigers. St. Stanislaus had 17. The Rock-A-Chaws were penalized six times for 70 yards. Slidell had five penalties for 45 yards.

Next week the 3-1 Rocks will entertain the 2-2 Hawks of Hancock North Central. Game time is 7:30.

Chotto, Cuccia vows exchanged in Gretna

Miss Trina Louise Cuccia and Robert Byron Chotto were united in marriage in a candlelight nuptial Mass on August 22 at 7:30 p.m. at St. Cletus Catholic Church in Gretna, La.

The bride's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Anthony Cuccia of Diamondhead. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adolph Chotto of Gretna.

Rev. Reesch officiated the double ring ceremony.

Nuptial music was provided by Manuel Ott, organist and Margarette Mehtrants, vocalist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white chiffon fashioned with Victorian neckline, Bishop sleeves and sheer bodice enhanced with re-embroidered Alencon lace. Her chapel length train and veil of bridal illusion were trimmed in cluny lace. She carried a bouquet of peach throated white orchids, stephanotis, almond blossoms and baby's breath accented with pearls and ribbon streamers.

Matron of honor was Karen Bennett and maid of honor was Nancy Clayton, both of Gretna.

Bridesmaids were Sandy Clayton of Gretna, Ronna Ann McCann of Kenner, La. and Lisa Chotto and Cathy Chotto, sisters of the groom, of Gretna.

Miss Jessica Bennett of Gretna was flower girl. Ring bearer was Jason Fountaine.

Bridesmaids were identically attired in formal gowns of peach chiffon fashioned with criss-crossed draped bodice. They wore hair ornaments of peach flowers and carried nosegays of peach daisies, cream Tiger Lilies, apple green azaleas and baby's breath.

Dwight Chotto served his brother as best man.

Groomsmen were Barry Cuccia, brother of the bride, Max Chotto, Henry Bennett and Joseph Domino, all of Gretna; and Bruce Baris of Metairie, La.

Ushers were Steve Campbell and Phil Ezell of Gretna.

A reception followed the ceremony at Four Columns in Harvey, La.

The bride's mother greeted guests wearing a gown of emerald green chiffon designed with accordion pleats and four tiered ruffles. The groom's mother chose for the occasion toast colored chiffon gown with matching cape.

Her narrow-brimmed linen hat was trimmed with matching ribbon and a veil of English net. She wore crocheted cotton gloves and carried a Victorian bouquet of Queen Anne's lace, white roses and pink and lavender grape hyacinths, wrapped at the stem with satin ribbon and streamers.

Renowned flower arranger to lecture at MGCJC

George Smith, internationally famous flower arrangement artist of York, England, will lecture at 2 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 14 in the Jefferson Davis Campus auditorium of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Junior College.

The college is located on Switzer Road between Gulfport and Biloxi.

Smith's second visit to the Gulf Coast and fourth to the Deep South, will be sponsored by the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs, consisting of some 33 clubs in 10 Coast communities, according to Mrs. John Brooks, president.

Tickets are $5 and may be obtained through any of the Coast garden clubs or from Mrs. Cleve Allen, 15 Poplar Circle, Gulfport, MS 39501, or Mrs. Paul Franke Jr., 1515 Bert, Gulfport, MS 39501.

In constant demand throughout the world, Smith has created decorations for the British Royal family on many occasions, staying as one of a private house party with Her Majesty the Queen for the past five years at Badminton House, home of the Duke and Duchess of Beaufort.

He has spoken in more than 25 countries scattered through six continents, and still finds time to write, his most recent book being "Flower Arranging in House and Garden," published by Pelham Books Ltd., Bedford Square, London SW 1.

At the Gulf Coast lecture demonstration, the audience will be treated to his flair for creativity through designs intended to heighten awareness of the beauty of the plant kingdom and of nature.

Smith attempts to open his audiences' eyes to the possibility of using wild, cultivated and exotic materials as a means of self expression.

The flower arrangement artist does not restrict himself to conventional styles, but embraces all schools of design exemplifying the classical, modern, abstract and naturalistic as befits the mood or occasion. He contends that floral art is never static, but is as varied as the many climatic conditions, situations and economic considerations placed upon the artist.

Smith is perhaps as well known in the United States as in other countries. He has lectured at the Williamsburg Garden Symposium and at the convention of the National Council of State Garden Clubs. An audience of 1000 is not unusual.

Speaker for the meeting was John Tucker of New Orleans who lectured on "The History of Gardening," tracing development and highlights of gardens and gardening from the ruins of Pompeii to the suburbs of America.

Flower show chairman Mrs. E.R. Phillpott announced a change of date of next Spring's show to April 8. The following new members were approved: Mesdames C.J. Acker, Lloyd J. Bell Jr., N.L. Burke, L.B. McRae, J.W. Reshow.

George Smith is a portrait of the flower arranger, a man with dark hair, wearing a suit and tie, smiling at the camera.

Contemporary design for kitchen

By BARBARA HARTUNG
Copley News Service

Q. I'm considering remodeling a kitchen in our home which is 50 years old. I want an open feeling so the kitchen will blend into the dining room. I want the walls and floor to be the same, of course.

Right now my problem is whether I should choose a kitchen wallpaper for the two rooms or one that is more contemporary and elegant — more what you'd envision for a dining room. We want the interior of our old home to be contemporary. Do you have some suggestions? — W.P.

A. If you like contemporary design, why not go all the way — kitchen and dining room. If you shop for wall coverings today you'll note that there are thousands of designs that aren't kitchen but would be smashing in a kitchen.

Take for example Jack Denst's yellow on gold mylar which he installed recently in a spacious old kitchen. He combined the paper with golden toned appliances and a cooking island with chopping block. You could do similar. Just be certain the paper is coated or a vinyl covering so it will stand up to the harder use it will have.

You could further avoid a kitchen look by choosing a white marbled vinyl for the floor — an elegant look in the kitchen as well as the dining room. If you have a glass-topped dining table you might add additional design punch with an area rug under the dining area.

Q. We have a very traditional condominium with wood-paneled walls (light pecan), gold draperies and gold-beige carpeting. We have an old tapestry in tones of rusty-red, gold, green, brown, beige and light teal blue. I want to purchase a new sofa and a new occasional chair.

What colors would you accent with for pillows, perhaps. The tapestry is large and will hang over the sofa so I believe the sofa fabric should be a solid color. Am I correct? — K.K.L.

A. If your tapestry is quite dramatic, and usually they are, you probably would be happier with a solid fabric sofa. Why not a light teal blue sofa with heavy fringe and welting to give it a traditional look?

For an occasional chair, you might like a cane back or wood framed design with a rusty-red fabric. Pillows of needlepoint in cream and rusty-red and the sofa fabric would be especially nice. I'd accent with large amounts of cream — lamp bases, vases and picture mats.

Q. We have a very small apartment living room with limited natural light. We now have good parquet floors and white sofas and chairs. I like rather dramatic decorating and am wondering what I might do to add more light to the room. Walls are now white, and still the room is drab. Could you suggest something? — P.N.

A. Have you considered using mirrors in the room? This can give you lots of drama and the reflective quality of mirrors is delightful by day as well as by night.

If you didn't want a large hanging mirror on a wall you might consider tall shutters of mirror that you could arrange at one end of the room or behind a sofa or table. Baffles of mirror, of course, need to be carefully hinged so they will be sturdy and safe. But they are also portable and could easily move if you change apartments.

Mississippians to participate in national 4-H week activities

More than 153,000 Mississippi 4-H'ers will celebrate National 4-H Week Oct. 5-11. They are among 5 million youngsters involved in 4-H activities nationwide.

Dr. Charles Sappington, state leader of 4-H Youth Development, reports, "A common trait of all 4-H programs is a learn-by-doing approach. Active involvement of youth is designed to help them learn and apply knowledge and thereby develop life skills."

"These skills vary from learning to clean a camera to fitting an animal for a show and from planning and preparing a meal to platform speaking. A skill that most former 4-H'ers attribute to 4-H is the ability to interrelate with people," Sappington says.

Another strength of 4-H is that it belongs to the people. National, state and local governments finance the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service which in turn provides program personnel and curriculum. Local volunteers then deliver the program to youth," the state leader explains.

More than 5,000 volunteers were involved in the Mississippi 4-H Program last year.

"Youth also provide volunteer leadership as older teens guide and share their skills with younger 4-H'ers as teen leaders," Sappington states.

"More than 40 projects are available for youth to participate in. Many 4-H'ers choose more than one project and others concentrate on one main interest," he says.

"Projects are designed for urban and rural youth. A farm youth enrolled in the dairy project may devote his time to milk production. A city 4-H'er enrolled in the project may study dairy marketing and processing," Sappington explains.

"Participating in 4-H projects helps youth develop values, economics and careers. Project work provides an insight into the real world of work," Sappington says.

"Awards and incentives encourage 4-H participation and recognize outstanding achievement. Local, state and national businesses, agencies and individuals provide the funds for these incentives.

Most awards are given through various competitive events designed to help 4-H'ers exhibit skills learned in project work. 4-H'ers are encouraged to maintain a record of their learning and achievement," he also explains.

"These records contribute to one's feeling of self worth and provide a method for recognizing accomplishments through his 4-H career," he adds.

"4-H began in Mississippi in 1907. The program has changed to meet the needs of youth based on their individual interests. Changes are made continuously by 4-H participants to keep the program abreast with today's youth," Sappington notes.

Lung Association seeks smoking essay entries

"Smoking and Health" is the subject of the 4th annual essay contest sponsored by the Mississippi Lung Association, according to Mrs. Allen Edwards of Indianola, president of the Christmas Seal voluntary health organization.

Announcements outlining rules and regulations have been sent to all Mississippi schools.

Any regularly enrolled eighth or tenth grade student is eligible to participate.

Eighth and tenth grade teachers are asked to select two essays in local classrooms as preliminary winners and send them to the Mississippi Lung Association in Jackson for state-wide judging.

Deadline for entry is November 14. All entries will be judged as to content, accuracy of statements, originality and effectiveness. Winners will be announced in early December.

Twelve prizes will be awarded. First, second and third place winners will be chosen in each of the following categories: eighth grade girls, eighth grade boys, tenth grade girls and tenth grade boys. Prizes will be first place, $25; second place, $15; and third place, $10.

Additionally, all four 1st place winners will be invited to Jackson in mid-December to tape a television program, "Access," with Jack Schweitzer, host.

The program featuring the four top essay winners will be aired in January, 1981 on the Mississippi Educational Television Network during National Education Week on Smoking.

The Mississippi Lung Association will furnish resource material, free of charge, upon request.

Edwards added that requests for educational pamphlets, films and posters on smoking and its subsequent health hazards are increasing. A wide variety of educational material on all lung related subjects is available year-round from the Mississippi Lung Association.

For further information, to request material, or to submit essay entries, contact the Mississippi Lung Association, Post Office Box 9685, Jackson, MS 39206 or telephone 382-5453.

SCHOLARSHIP HONORS TURLEY

A scholarship in memory of the late Edith Waits Turley of Leland has been established at The University of Mississippi by her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. James E. Baine of El Dorado, Ark. The scholarship fund was established through the Lamar Order of the Ole Miss Alumni Association in cooperation with the University of Mississippi Foundation. The fund will provide scholarships to law students who are national members of Delta Theta Phi law fraternity and those who have met the law school's requirement for financial aid, with a preference to needy students demonstrating "high moral character and scholastic achievement." Mrs. Turley, born in Mantachie, served 27 years as bookkeeper for the Peoples Drug Store in Leland, and was a member of the First Baptist Church there.

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Took her best years

Q. I fell in love with a man and we went together for 12 years. I even had a child by him. He said he had a bad wife and promised we would be getting married, sent me looking for a house we would buy.

But he ran for a position and won and since then he stopped seeing me. I am 41 years old and he took the best years of my young life. I thought he was telling me the truth all these years. Sometimes I feel like killing him, but I pray to God to ease my mind.

A. It is hard for me to understand how you and lots of other modern and supposedly sophisticated women keep falling for that old line. Skip the killing idea. Forget this man. He isn't worth remembering.

Mourning over abortion

Q. Several months ago I made a terrible mistake and had an abortion. Ever since I've been in a deep depression and suffer from pains which my doctor says are caused from nerves and guilt. I mourn for my baby every day. I hate myself and even considered suicide at one point. Since the day I had the abortion I've tried to make up to God for what I had done. Is there anything you can think of that I can do which will show God just how sorry I am? Do you think He could ever forgive me?

A. The very minute you ask for forgiveness for anything you feel is wrong it will be granted you. You have only to be sincerely sorry for what you have done and ask God to forgive you.

Then forgive yourself. That is perhaps the most difficult thing to do. But it must be done. Forgive yourself.

Then, as the Bible says, "Go and sin no more."

A Summer Camp That Pays Off

Through a new Army Reserve program, high school students can split their military training into two summer sessions.

Going to camp during summer vacation is nothing new for grade school students, but the term has taken on a new meaning for high schoolers.

Camp is a place where people make new friends while participating in team games, hikes and exercise programs, and while learning new skills and a new culture.

That's exactly what Army Reserve camp is all about. Add to that the patriotic feeling that comes with service to country and the fact that this is really a part-time job that pays off in dollars, and you have a glance into Army Reserve life.

How does it work? Well, if you're 17 or older and at least a sophomore, you can join a local Reserve unit. You start by attending meetings 16 hours a month (usually on the weekend) and learning an Army skill. When summer rolls around, it's off to camp you go. This first seven-weeks of intensive training is where you learn the basics of soldiery. Of course, you get paid for this full-time duty. You earn over $445 each month you're away, plus room and board.

After summer camp, it's back to the local unit for monthly drills and back to high school to earn your diploma. The following summer is when you again go on full-time duty (and full-time pay), this time to get formal training in your Army Reserve job. This schooling can take anywhere from six weeks to six months or longer depending on your Army job and your civilian education plans.

Going to camp can be fun. If it's Army Reserve camp, it's also hard work, physically and mentally demanding, and profitable.

With the Reserve's special program, you can split your training to fit into your summer vacations, thereby not disrupting your education plans. It's entry into a part-time job that pays you in money, skills, and self-esteem.

CANCER Answerline

American Cancer Society

A regular feature prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.

Question: "What is smoker's tongue? Is it cancer?"

ANSWERline: "Smoker's tongue" is a disease common among smokers. Its correct name is leukoplakia. This can become cancerous if continually irritated by tobacco smoke, ill-fitting dentures, or jagged teeth. Leukoplakia appears as thickened white patches on the mucous membranes of the lips, gums or other areas of the mouth. It is very important to have your dentist examine this condition and treat it. The condition may be removed with an electric needle or by surgery. This may require either local or general anesthetic.

Question: "Does inhaling asbestos cause lung cancer?"

ANSWERline: The inhalation of asbestos fibers has been implicated in mesothelioma, a cancer of the lining of the chest cavity. Asbestos workers who also smoke have been found to be greater risks for lung cancer. Asbestosis is a chronic lung disease that affects many workers in asbestos-related industries.

Question: "Can colon cancer be caused by a soft diet?"

ANSWERline: Although the cause of colorectal cancer, like that of most cancer, is unknown, statistical evidence indicates that dietary patterns do play a key role. Some scientists believe that a diet high in fat or low in fiber content may be a significant causative factor. However, more research is needed to confirm their observations.

Question: "Can a mammogram indicate a cancer in my breast?"

ANSWERline: Mammography is a diagnostic procedure based on the soft tissue X-ray of the breast. It shows breast masses that a radiologist may indicate whether or not a malignancy is present. The procedure generally is not used by itself, but is combined with a more extensive examination by a breast cancer specialist. The definite diagnosis of breast cancer must finally be confirmed by biopsy of the suspected tissue.

Question: "What is ultrasound, and how does it relate to cancer?"

ANSWERline: Ultrasound is a method for locating and measuring tumors in the human body. It works on the

Mrs. Oles. Mauffray Delph of Bay St. Louis.

I should like to request that you publish the findings I am submitting as a follow-up on the article presented by Joe Pilet (Echo 9-21-80) on Rotten Bayou Cemetery and its history.

She gave us an interesting story on the uniqueness of the cemetery, but I should like to present data through official registrations.

Incidentally, some of our early church and county registrations refer to the Rotten Bayou area by its Indian name Benashiva.

Our Courthouse records show that Francois Cuevas acquired this section of land (40.69 acres) by patent No. 5178 the 5th of January, 1841.

The act was filed on the 19th day of November, 1875, Book G, Pages 31 and 32.

Apparently it had become a family cemetery and it was here he was buried in 1863.

His wife, Felicite, was placed beside him in 1890. It may have been her intent to give the site as a public cemetery, but the act was accomplished by her children.

On August 7, 1893 their nine children "heirs of Frank Cuevas" conveyed to Hancock County the 49 acres of land as a public cemetery in perpetuity "to protect and preserve the graveyard grounds where repose the remains of our deceased parents as well as other kindred and friends" and that the timber now growing on said land "is donated to the Catholic Church on Rotten Bayou in said county known as St. Joseph Church" Deed Book P, Pages 427-428.

Since about the year 1870, St. Joseph Church in Fenton has been a mission church in the Annunciation parish of Kiln.

The baptismal recording on Felicite Morin is in the archives of the St. Louis Cathedral, New Orleans, La. Book of Baptisms No. 5, Page 51, Act 696. The registration is in Spanish telling that "Felicite Morin was baptized the 28th day of November, eighteen hundred and eight, born the first day of May of this present year."

The baptismal registration of Francois Cuevas, born in 1799, also written in Spanish, is in the archives of the Immaculate Conception Cathedral in Mobile, Ala.

Francois Cuevas was the second son of Juan de Cuevas, born in Seville, Spain and a resident of Cat Island, whose loyalty to the American cause in the War of 1812 caused him great pain at the hands of the British because he would not direct the British flotilla through the lake waterways to New Orleans.

It is interesting to note that during the years 1763-1810 the government of this coastal area was British, then Spanish, but the language of the people continued to be French and their sympathies wholly American.

Hancock Indians functioned poorly on fire water

By JOE PILET

Back in the year 1922 a blind confederate veteran sat on the porch of the Confederate Veterans' Home at Beauvoir talking with a Times Picayune reporter whose name was Zoe Posey.

Posey was looking for a human interest story, and he found one.

In the early 1800's one Jean Cuevas raised cattle on Cat Island. Cuevas had friendly relations with many Choctaw Indians.

Stories about these Indians were handed down from father-to-son and son to grandson and so the grandson, James A. Cuevas in answer to the reporter said:

"Indians? Sure, there were Indians all over Hancock County. Devil's Swamp was their big settlement. The Chief had a name that sounded like 'Tic-a-lay.'"

"When an Indian died they buried him and there was no mourning or moaning - no noise of any kind at that time.

Four weeks later they all went back to the grave and set up a wall and they cried and wailed and wailed and cried. This went on for nearly all day.

Then at night they went back to the grave and formed a line. Men were in front, then women and children were last.

They danced and sang around the grave in high-pitched voices they sang: 'Ho-Hey-Ho-he-hay-Ha' over and over again.

These people were half-civilized and wore feathers and beads a lot.

"There were many Indians at Bayou Goula, too. They were good people, honest and truthful and friends always if you treated them right, but look out - if you offended one he never forgave and would sometimes kill."

"Indians on the coast made their own laws. If one killed another and ran away, the Indians would take some member of his family and shoot him. To them a life for a life was the law. But they never ran away - they always gave themselves up to their chief."

"When an Indian was to be shot, a grave was dug and he was draped in his blanket and put in the grave and then shot. With him was placed a jug of whiskey, some tobacco, a pipe, flint and other things that belonged to him. The grave was filled in with earth, each Indian throwing in dirt and singing. There was no disgrace about such a death - it was simply the law."

"As I said, the Indians were good people, and there was never much trouble, but they liked whiskey and sometimes when they got drunk they killed. When sober they were sorry and were ready to pay the penalty for it and to die."

"Whiskey was very cheap then - 18 cents a gallon at wholesale and 25 cents at retail. It was fine whiskey, too, made of corn and rye."

BAD DREAMS—Peter Ustinov is host and narrator of "Nuclear Nightmares: Wars That Must Never Happen" at 8 p.m., Wednesday, October 1, on the Mississippi ETV Network. The documentary film utilizes four "nightmares" acted by Ustinov. In the dreams, he imagines circumstances leading to nuclear conflict.
